Description

A very charming desk was made during the aesthetic movement which is between 1860-1900. This is a beautiful writing desk which is circa 1890. It's rectangular in shape and has its lovely original leather which is unusual for a piece of this age. There are four drawers, on the desk top, two on each side. The desk stands on four nicely turned legs with its original casters. Below the top it has a central long drawer with two smaller drawers, one each side. Each drawer has its original handles. Please note that the central drawer lock is stamped Maple and Co, but not the table itself. I have shown on the first picture that this table is perfectly suitable for working at with a laptop. (The laptop shown is 12 inches wide x 8.5 inches deep, but could fit a laptop in width up to 16 inches). This writing desk would be very suitable for someone who works from home or is just looking for a beautiful piece of furniture. On purchase we deliver for free on mainland England and Wales.
